FORTIETH YEAR

GRIMSBY, WEDNESDAY, JULY 8, 1925.

$2.00 Per Year—5 Cents a Copy

It has been an unfortunate circumstance in the forwarding of the fruit growing interests that some growers, we might say many, have not realized the importance of introducing our fruits to our own people. It has been left to the propaganda of press agents of other districts to announce that fruit was available and good.

The words "press agent" mean much to every man, woman and child if they only knew it. To all and sundry such men as Wrigley, Beecham and Pear, are known—for why? Advertising. Not one of them would be ever heard of in your own locality, even they lived there if it were not for the "press agent."

Why do thousands of Europeans visit Niagara Falls? They learn of its wonders through advertising. Advertising does not mean a paid space in a newspaper or a placard on a fence. Thousands of professional people—please remember we do not refer to the three professions, nor even to the fourth estate—actors, artists, baseball players—what not, get before the public.

And the fine feature of it is—THEY BENEFIT THEREBY.

Do you, Mr. Fruit Grower, get the point? Do you realize how many hundreds of thousands of dollars of advertising are carried into your home each month in United States publications? Do you realize that Ma or Marie reads those advertisements of foreign fruits?

And, to put it bluntly, do you blame them for buying foreign fruits when it is put in front of them every day by advertisements?

Now, suppose for a moment that YOUR FRUIT is put in an advertisement, and its superiority—no one can deny that—told to other men's wives and daughters in Canada. Does it not sound reasonable that they will think well of home grown fruit? Most of them are patriotic enough to buy Canadian fruit in preference to foreign stuff, but this outside fruit has been so well brought to their attention that they forget our good fruit.

A long story to come to a point. But, Mr. Fruit Grower, the one-quarter of one per cent of the value of your fruit—and you say the value is practically nil—taken by as prominent a body as the Canadian Horticultural Council to advertise your fruit to the women of Canada is so small that you can not afford to lose so great an amount.

With, we will say, peaches at $1.00, it means One Cent on four baskets. Is that much of a "rake-off"? And remember, the Canadian Horticultural Council, nor the dealer through whom you ship, nor even your commission merchant gets one cent of your money. It all goes to direct advertising of your fruit.

If you do not understand the arrangement The Independent will be only too pleased to explain. Most of the dealers will take the time. It is a simple proposition of you getting your fruit; our fruit; CANADIAN FRUIT, in front of Canadian people. And at such a small cost to you that even it did not result in one added penny of price, you would be an imperceptible loser.

(The Independent will not get any of this advertising. It will be done in papers and magazines that reach people more outside of the fruit belt.)

PROSPERITY OF FRUIT BELT DEMANDS PROPAGANDA THAT WILL MORE WIDELY DISTRIBUTE OUR PRODUCTS IN CANADA

Grimsby, July 4, 1925.

Editor of The Independent

Dear Sir,—

In my youth I was apprenticed to the drug trade and the first duty assigned me was to pound together in a large iron mortar, a mass consisting of Aloe, Ginger and Soap. Such mass was then rolled out on an old-fashioned pill machine and the resulting pills placed in small boxes to retail at 25c, while larger portions of the same pudding rolled by hand to the general shape of a number twelve cartridge served as physic balls for horses.

Similarly, many years ago, an English druggist, (they call them Chemists over there), was likewise engaged in the same pleasant way but retailing the pills for a shilling. But did the public through these drug stores or chemists shops in search of these pills as our Canadians did of yore through the pubs looking for Johnny Walker? Not noticeably, until Mr. English Chemist conceived the idea of advertising his brand of pills, with the result that we are all familiar with.

"Hark the Herald Angels sing Beechams pills are just the thing."

And succeeding generations of Beechams have made much wealth from the same humble, but active little pill.

These reminiscences and what not come to my mind if any, on reading Messrs. E. D. Smith & Sons' Epistle to the Growers in your last issue. In California, when I lived there many moons since, the fruit growers of that state were in a position somewhat worse than ours. They lived where nature was very kind to them but simply could not coax both ends meet until they undertook advertising by concerted action. The tail end, about ten per cent, of that advertising overlaps into Canada and Canadians ask for the advertised brand of California fruit. E Pluribus Unum.

A well conducted advertising campaign will do for us what it has done for California, so let us get behind it and let not one man hold back the pittance that is being asked for to enable the Canadian Council of Agriculture to succeed in this very important campaign. Remember:

"The fault, dear Brutus, lies not in our Stars but in ourselves, that we are underlings."

Yours very truly,

W. M. STEWART

LOCAL FIREMEN AT CONVENTION

Grimsby Department Takes Part in Demonstration—Some of Members on Committee.

Welland, July 2.—The spectacular parade of the different fire companies comprising the Niagara District Firemen's Association was an imposing sight yesterday afternoon, this being the concluding day of the annual convention and demonstration. Headed by their bands, the firemen in full parade dress presented a picturesque scene. Their marching to the martial airs of the bands showed that military precision and swing which brought forth the standards of the throng that lined the entire route. The parade was nearly a mile in length and was marshalled by H. R.

Walden, secretary of the Association. The honor of leading was given to the Thorold Band and the Thorold Protection Hose Company, the latter looking resplendent in their dress uniform, who will be the hosts at the Provincial demonstration which takes place next month. The Grimsby Fire Department was the third in line.

At the convention of the Association E. Fawcett of Grimsby, was placed on the membership committee, while W. H. Talbot, the Grimsby Chief was put on the games committee.

VISITORS PICNIC AT THE HOME

An opportunity for residents of Lincoln County to inspect the Industrial Home has been arranged by Superintendent Frank Sifton in an open week to be held from July 14th

The Grimsby Independent.

Gentlemen:

We notice that you printed in the last issue of The Independent, a copy of our letter to the growers re the Advertising Campaign. Since this letter went out, the shippers in the Peninsula have met Mr. Burrows again, and there have been one or two changes made in the method of conducting the campaign.

The paragraph in our last letter about money being collected for each class of fruit, and that money being earmarked and spent in advertising that class of fruit is now changed. Hereafter the one-quarter of 1 per cent will be deducted from the credit slips of those growers wishing it to be deducted, and this amount of money collected will be sent to Mr. Burrows in a lump sum each month by the shipper, not distinguishing in the class of fruit from which this money was derived. The Horticultural Council have made a rough estimate of what they will get from each class of fruit, and having to earmark the amount from each class will facilitate making returns.

We feel the surest way of having Canadian people eat Canadian fruit is to put a heavy tariff on all American fruit of the same varieties as our own, coming into our country. Seemingly the present Dominion Government does not wish to help our fruit industry to this effect, so in the meantime we have to look around for something else that can stimulate the consumption of our fruit. The Canadian Horticultural Council at Ottawa having investigated the value of similar fruit advertising campaigns in other countries, became convinced that a campaign in Canada would be of considerable benefit, and thus worked out the present campaign.

It is hoped that all growers in the Peninsula will co-operate in this campaign, so that the cost of same will be borne by all on the same basis, and by reason of all helping, will give a sufficient sum of money to make the advertising worth while. If the results of this year's advertising are considered satisfactory, the same proposition will be carried on next year. We are willing to do our share in carrying on with this good work, and trust that good results will be forthcoming.

Yours truly,

E. D. SMITH & SONS, LIMITED

W.M.S. PLEASE TOTS

Grimsby, July 2.—The Missionary society of the Methodist church entertained the Grimsby Roll children, their mothers and grandmothers, on Tuesday afternoon, July 28, on the parlours of Mrs. William Calder, Main street east. There were over 50 present. The program was presided over by Miss Margaret Mott, and consisted of a reading, by Miss Bernice Smith, a solo, by Betty Theil, and a delightful treat to the children by Mrs. Mott. Each child present received a gift. Mrs. Theil and Mrs. Armstrong looked after the wants of the little ones with ice cream and cake. A pleasant feature of the afternoon was the presence of a old member of the society, Mrs. Goring, and her little son, from St. David's.

LOW PRICES ON CHERRIES HITS ALL

Everyone in the fruit belt has been greatly interested over the cherry situation the past ten days and The Independent has secured much authentic information relative to the main causes for the drastic slump in prices and at least for once feels that the much criticized dealer has in the past week paid very dearly for the privilege of handling the entire crop both of good and inferior quality of the growers whose fruit they handle.

The markets of the past week have according to the experience of both Co-operatives and dealers been absolutely demoralized. This partly on account of the holiday coming in the middle of the week and partly on account of the very superior quality of cherries which appeared on the market the first of this cherry season, and which this season came in a week earlier than normally.

Growers were paid prices at the beginning of the cherry season which if they could have been held would have been satisfactory but before the dealers could realize the situation they were loaded with thousands of baskets for which there was no market. This left only one outlet the commission markets, and with the dealers paying from 75c. to 80c. for black cherries which sold as low as 50c. in Montreal it is easy to figure what their losses have been.

One attention has been drawn to one grower who refused to accept dealers prices here and shipped 200 baskets of cherries on commission, for which he received the privilege of donating $2.00 towards the Express charges.

It seems that the final conclusion of the situation will be to cut out all the E. D. Smiths and Govers Wood Cherries and then we may hope for remuneration prices for our better varieties of cherries.

YES, THEY WERE CANADIANS

A party of five young men travelling from the United States, daily decked with American flags, stopped at St. John's United Church for a bite to eat. And as they stopped a neighbor approached them and told them they were supposed to show respect for the country through which they were travelling, and display of Canadian flags was required.

"Why," replied the young men "we are all Canadians. Our homes are in Toronto and we have been working in the States," and so they immediately went to purchase Canadian flags to honor their native land.

All of which goes to show that while Canadians sometimes object to the practice of Americans in being decorated with the Stars and Stripes, still Canadians residing in the United States are as great of lenders as any others.

TWINS BORN AFTER FATHER IS KILLED

Toronto, July 1.—His spine fractured in an auto accident at Beaverville while coming to see his wife a few days before she gave birth to twins, Gustave Adolph Leistner, 671 Broadway ave., Buffalo, died Saturday at the home of his wife's father, Wm. Brown, 12 Elmer street, West Toronto. Mrs. Leistner withstood the great shock and the twins—Jack and Martin—are happy specimens of babyhood.

It was on June 7 that their father was injured and ten days later "he" came into the world while he was slowly dying.

Mr. Leistner and his brother Rudolph, who was driving, were motorizing to Toronto by night. At four o'clock in the morning two miles south of Beaverville, the car turned completely over in making a sharp turn on a hill and rolled fifty feet down the embankment.

Surviving are his widow and the twin boy and girl; three sisters and one brother.

A LITTLE TALK ON THRIFT

By W. W. Strain, President American Society for Thrift

Commendable organized educational efforts now are being made to safeguard individuals against losses through fraudulent investments.

Current events emphasize the need for more intensive thrift education through the press as well as in the school room. There are thousands who have made the start by saving money, but unfortunately their thrift education has gone no further. As a result, one reads in the papers almost daily of the exposure of individuals who have despoiled the cherished savings that grew penny by penny through the years. No greater tragedies appear on the pages of fiction than many of the stories of these misguided persons whose lifetime accumulations are swept away.

It is unfortunate that in much of the so-called thrift work in this country encouragement has been given only to saving of money. One cannot, of course, say aught of such advice, excepting that it does not go far enough.

Let the nation learn the words of Lincoln that "economy begins with saving money," but let us emphasize the fact that Lincoln made use of the word begin.

Saving money is only the beginning of thrift.

Judging by the reports in the newspapers from day to day, there is a rising tide of unscrupulous practices based on the efficient popular knowledge of per capita economics and the principles of safe investment.

As such attention should be given to teaching prudent methods of spending and investing money as is given to the teaching of correct methods of saving it.

It is a matter of gratification that more attention now is to be given to the processes of safeguarding what has been saved.

The functions of earning, saving and spending are of equal importance.

AVOIDING ACCIDENTS

(St. Catharines Standard)

A "letter to parents," now being distributed in the schools by the Ontario Safety League, deserves to be carefully read and digested. If parents faithfully followed the recommendations contained in this pamphlet there would be an appreciable diminution in the number of distressing accidents, often resulting in death, through the causes to which reference is made. They are simple precautions, but it is usually the most simple and obvious duties which are neglected. Where there are young children about, the necessity of making a regular habit of observing the directions contained in the first part of the leaflet, relating to things to be avoided and things to be done in and around the house, is particularly urgent; in most cases, these precautions are desirable for the safety of adults also. Carelessness in the handling of poisons, neglect to remove obstructions, broken glass, rusty wire, etc., are frequent causes of serious injury; use of defective ladders, contempt of fire-arms, thoughtlessness in the use of electrical appliances, carelessness with gas, with kerosene and other combustible materials—these all receive much-needed attention in the Safety League's pamphlet.

In the second division of the letter an appeal is made to parents to teach "children to avoid the dangers of the street," with special emphasis on the danger of crossing streets without looking and at points other than intersections. It is noticed that in matters of playing and recreation there is no inhibition, but the reverse: "Have them swim," "Have them play," but in the right place. Swim in protected areas; play, not in the streets, but in playgrounds. This is putting part of the responsibility on the city authorities. The instructions as to behaviour on street cars are most useful, and the injunction not to touch fallen wires is of the utmost importance. Roller skates and bicycles, stealing rides, trespassing on railway tracks—it would be impossible to compute the number of avoidable accidents which have happened to children through these causes. Finally, the menace of the common house fly is forcibly brought home to parents and children alike.

The propaganda will fail in its object unless parents make the facts known to children, for whom it is especially intended. It is only by continually hammering away at it that habits of carelessness are induced in the young, says the Belleville Ontario. But there is more than the duty of instructing the children involved—there is the obligation to observe the useful rules here laid down for the guidance of parents themselves. It is to be hoped this pamphlet will be regarded in every home.

FACTS AND FANCIES

BY FRANK FAIRBORN
(Jas. A. Livingston)

President Coolidge is not in favor of the United States joining the League of Nations, but he would be willing to join in an International Peace Conference.

The president is quite willing for the United States to take part in anything that will cost nothing and where his country will not have to assume any responsibility.

An International Peace Conference would give United States officials all kinds of chances to make speeches. The League of Nations might cost a few dollars to force an unruly nation to be good.

President Coolidge's attitude reminds me of the voter who, when I canvassed him told me "he would do all he could for me, but he couldn't vote for me," told him that one vote was worth more than five tons of moral support.

I used to be very sensitive about my bald head, but I am not now. Jiggs has only two hairs standing up on his bald head, while I have over a dozen.

Great Britain and France are considering whether they will cease to deal with Russia—and that is the country we were sending money to a year or two ago.

I am only five years ahead of the British government, and a thousand years ahead of some other people in my ideas on Russia. The Russian government is nothing more or less than a gang of cut throats, and it should be ostracised by all civilized nations.

Who causes the most trouble on the highways? The speeder or the slow driver? Figure it out for yourself. In one of the New England States it is illegal to drive slower than thirty-five miles an hour.

NOTES AND COMMENTS ON CURRENT EVENTS

BY PETER PETERKIN

A prominent man in the United States, George F. Johnson, president of the Endicott Shoe Company, asks a very pertinent question when he says: "Are the people of the U.S.A. going to become a nation of jellyfish?" The grounds on which he founds his conviction that they are in great danger of doing so, are that they are breeding a spirit of intolerance which in the end is going to have serious consequences.

According to him almost every mail brings in a prospectus of some kind of society organized to supervise something. It is the petty supervision that seems to matter to a lot of people. They want more supervision in the shop, in the home—everywhere. It is not apparent where this is going to end, but it is quite clear that if the right of self-determination is taken away from the individual—and that is just what is happening in the U.S.A.—the result will be a nation of jellyfish.

According to Mr. Johnson, it would be different if they were under the control of strong leaders, trying to weld the people into a nation, but there is no leadership in all this. Leadership has to do with expression and development—with "Thou shalt." Today they have only "Thou shalt not." He mentions the little town of Endicott as an example. It is a beautiful little town. The Endicott-Johnson Shoe Company laid it out themselves, and most of the people in it own their own homes and work in the company's factories.

There is apparently very little crime in the town, the citizens are honest working people and a policeman is hardly necessary. They used to get along very well with two policemen and they had practically nothing to do, but now, because of the great number of petty laws and regulations, they have ten policemen and there is a demand for more. These shackled men have been taken out of production to "protect the community." The police are kept busy with endless automobile regulations, with arresting men dazed by the stuff sold since the Volstead Act, and with a thousand little regulations which are on the books and are supposed to require enforcement.

Mr. Johnson declares straight from the shoulder that the Volstead Act has become an instrument of injustice and oppression. It was intended to crush the saloons and the breweries; instead of that, they find they have had to enlarge their jails and almshouses. Formerly they never had much trouble with drunkenness; now the stuff that people drink makes them crazy. There is discussion everywhere and nobody seems willing to have anyone else lead his own life.

In their shops Mr. Johnson finds they have been multiplying supervision and taking away responsibility from the individual worker. He finds that is wrong and is now working in exactly the opposite direction. He wants to see less supervision and more individual responsibility, otherwise they cannot have real manhood. In all departments of life he considers that the people of the U.S.A. are over-organized—organizing away from brains and initiative and the natural right of man to suffer the consequences of his own mistakes.

All this summed up means—too much government for the good of the people. A wise English statesman once said: "That government is best which governs least," but today our wise (?) statesmen are reversing that and are practically telling us "That government is best which governs most." We are just as bad in this respect as our neighbors across the line for Canada today is frightfully over-governed, and we are finding out that under present-day conditions "That government is best which governs least" is a motto which is making a wretched failure of it.

Britain has remained great chiefly because her people have always possessed the idea that the common amount of freedom possible under any settled government at all should be left to the individual. And now, even she of late has cringed a tendency to depart from her traditions in this respect. The government role for instance. This change can be attributed, I think, to the growing influence of the female element in State matters, for women love to snore and pry into other people's affairs.

Indeed many mothers on this continent apparently want their boys brought up in a totally artificial atmosphere, carefully preserved, every way from ordinary temptations and the rest is what? An individual without any backbone, who when confronted—in spite of all precautions—with some real temptation, topples over at once and too often fails to rise again because he has no real character foundation on which to build.

One of all is to permit self-righteous organizations to bulldoze the government, whether national, provincial or municipal into depriving individuals of their natural rights "for their own good." For no people can be successfully governed against their will, against their own natural desires for a reasonable amount of personal liberty in which atmosphere alone can the flower of true character be perfected.

A salesman asked a Scotch farmer to buy a bicycle. "They're very cheap now and I can let you have a good one at a reasonable price," said the salesman. "I would rather put the money in another way," said the farmer. "You would look mighty good riding around your farm on a cow, wouldn't you?" said the salesman. To which the Scot replied: "No, the fooler than I would be riding a bicycle."

DISMISSAL BASIS OF RE-UNION WITH CATHOLICS

Summary of the Anglo-Catholic
"Malines Conversations" Has Produced a Satisfactory Result.

(By N.C.W.C. News Service.)
(From the Catholic Register, Printed by Request)

London, June 21.—The session of the Anglo-Catholic
"Malines Conversations" has produced a "program in agreement."

Members of the conference had drawn up in advance a list of questions to be discussed, and typewritten copies in English and French were provided for each conference. Continuing from last year the Conversations dealt mainly with the historical primacy of the Papacy. It is permissible to say that the discussions brought the various points of view closer together.

Particularly, there was manifest a certain trend-till which should be helpful in eliminating future difficulties.

Cardinal Mercier to Report to Pope

Reports were drawn up at the conclusion of the session and were unanimously adopted. Cardinal Mercier, under whose presidency the conference was held, left immediately for Rome to submit these reports to the Holy Father and to give him a firsthand account of the Conversations. A copy of the minutes also was addressed to the Vatican of England.

The conference was announced the conference through a communication to the Catholic press, in which he said:
"To-day, Monday, several Anglo-Catholic theologians will come for the fourth time to Malines (Belgium), under the patronage of two Archbishops of Canterbury and York, to meet a group of Catholic theologians and to discuss with them the problem of the reunion of Christians. This is the object of an agreement among Anglo-Catholics."

"Faith is a gift of God. A return to Catholic unity, therefore, can be primarily but the working of His divine grace. They who enjoy the good fortune to possess the integral truth are in duty bound to ask this heavenly grace for those who are not so favoured. I rely, therefore, during these days of conference upon the prayerful co-operation of both the clergy and the faithful of my diocese and of the whole of our beloved Belgium."

Those who Took Part

Those who gathered in the Archiepiscopal Palace of Malines for the Conversations were: On the Catholic side, Cardinal Mercier, the Rt. Rev.
Mgr. Van Rosy, Vicar-General of Brussels; the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Battifol, Canon of Notre Dame, Paris, and the rector of the Catholic Institute of Toulouse; the Abbe Fort, Priest of the Mission, and the Abbe Hammer, pastor of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Paris. On the Anglican side, Lord Halifax, D. Gore, former Bishop of Oxford; Dr. Armistage Robinson, Dean of Wells and close friend of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and

Dr. Kidd, president of Keble College, Oxford.

Catholic and Anglicans met together in the great salon of the Archiepiscopal Palace, around a large table covered with green. No special groups were formed of the two parties.
The sessions were held on two consecutive days, from 10-1 and 4-7 o'clock. Difference of language presented no difficulty; several members spoke English and French equally well, and acted as interpreters for their fellow-members. Cardinal Mercier speaks English fluently.

Lord Halifax suggested the conference, and Lord Halifax took the initiative in suggesting the Malines Conversations four years ago. Inspired by a worthy ambition to work for a rapprochement between the separated churches,
he went directly to Cardinal Mercier, whom he found benevolently inclined toward an agreement.

From the first the Conversations have drawn a large number of important churchmen. It would be improbable of course, to found on these conferences any hope for results in the near future.

Household Clearance

Many a prudent housewife has found it profitable to call upon Independent Want Ads to effect a household clearance sale.

In many homes there are stored away disused articles of household equipment, sewing ma-

STRAWBERRY TIME

A talented chef at one of the Paris restaurants made a specialty of strawberry sauce last season, which he served with all manner of sweet dishes; filled, or poured it over little monads of jelly or plain cream ice. With the little it is specially attractive.

His first sauce he makes like this. To one-third of a cupful of creamed butter he adds two scant ones of sugar and the beaten yolks of two eggs. All are mixed together and a quart of well mashed strawberries is added.

His second sauce is of a half-cupful of butter and one cupful of sugar beaten together to a cream, a cupful of whipped cream, two cupfuls of finely sliced strawberries, all mingled together; at the last he adds the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. These sauces are served very cold.

The lovers of coupe d'orientale will find this really perfect sweet. In the bottom of tall glasses a Viennese chef puts field strawberries, red raspberries, and sugar. Over this he puts a rounded spoonful of plain cream ice by the side of one of raspberry ice. He covers all with a spray of whipped cream dotted with field strawberries, or falling those with raspberries. Little squares of apricot cake are served with the coupe.

An English cook who believes that strawberries are best if you serve them in a way suggesting that they have come straight from the garden puts hers in little earthenware pots, each covered with a fresh green leaf, and a stem of rosemary in each and sugar in bowls of the same ware. In a different mood she will make an exquisite strawberry mousse, and lay it on a dish of silver with a cluster of pink roses by the mousse.

Strawberry Trifle. Cover the bottom of a deep glass dish with rather thick slices of stale sponge or Madeira cake. Place the finest strawberries on top, over these that are small or over-ripe sprinkle a little sugar and pour over them with a wooden spoon. Put the fruit aside for an hour, in order that it may become more liquid, then flavor with lemon juice, and if necessary, add a little brandy or other fruit juice or plain water making sufficient liquid to thoroughly saturate the slices of cake, over which it is now poured. Place the remaining whole strawberries on top leaving between them as little space as possible, and cover with this slice of cake. If ready as much as you want, add as will form a layer not less than an inch in depth, and repeat the process. A little stiffly-whipped cream may be piled on the centre, or a thick layer may replace the cake. In any case swirl strawberries in y decorate the surface.

Strawberry Sponges. After beating 1 lb. of ripe strawberries with a wooden spoon, press them through a sieve or strainer. Beat with the palm a heavily-filled tea-cup of sugar and the juice of two oranges and one lemon and beat the color with a little cochineal. Dissolve six or seven sheets (4, or 5) of gelatin in a little hot water. Whisk the whites of two eggs till firm; also whip a teaspoonful of thick cream well. Mix the hot gelatin thoroughly with the fruit pulp, stir in as lightly as possible the whites of eggs and cream, and pile the sponge in a rocky form in a deep crystal dish.

Strawberry Tarts. Line a deep pie dish with short pastry crust and fill to within half an inch of its brim with well sweetened fruit. Place latticed strips across the top, taking care to moisten each strip so that it will adhere to the paste rim. Sprinkle granulated sugar over the top and bake in a moderate oven. When cool send to the table in the dish in which it was baked. Serve with plain or whipped cream.

Strawberry Tapioca. Boil a cupful of tapioca in cold water over night. In the morning put half of it in a buttered dish. Sprinkle with sugar and put in a quart of strawberries. Sprinkle the strawberries with sugar, put in the rest of the tapioca, sprinkle again with sugar. Put the dish with water, which should cover the tapioca for half an inch. Bake in a moderate oven until the pudding has a clear look. If the water evaporates when the pudding is baking, add more. It should be eaten cold with cream.

Strawberry Souffles. Roll out rich pastry crust and cut in pieces about five inches square. Put well-sugared red strawberries in the centre of each square, moisten the edges with a little water and press together. With a knife make two incisions in the top of each dumpling and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour, serve with the sauce used for short-cakes.

Strawberry Pudding. Cream a half a cupful of butter with a quarter cupful of sugar. Gradually add two well-beaten eggs and whisk to a stiff froth. Put two cupfuls of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of salt through a sieve several times, and add, alternately, with one cupful of milk to the cream mixture. Stir in lightly one cupful of very ripe strawberries, turn into buttered molds and steam half an hour. Serve with foamy sauce made from half a cupful of butter creamed with one cupful of powdered sugar. Flavor with one teaspoonful of vanilla and quarter teaspoonful of lemon. Just before serving, slowly stir into the mixture a quarter cupful of boiling water, then add the stiffly beaten whites of one egg. Whisk to a foam.

Strawberry Mousse. Soften 1 tablespoon of granulated gelatin in 1/4 cup of cold water. Add 1/2 cup of boiling water and stir until dissolved. Cool, and add 2 cups of mashed and sweetened strawberries. Let this mixture stand until it begins to thicken, then add 2 cups of whipped cream. Mix well, place in freezer, and let stand without turning for four hours.

Strawberry Tarts. Beat 2 eggs, until light, add 6 tablespoons of sugar, 1/4 cup of thick buttermilk, 2 tablespoons of thick sour cream, and 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla. Line tart shells with rich pie crust. Fill with the mixture and bake. Have ready 1 cup of crushed strawberries sweetened with 2 tablespoons of sugar. When the tarts are cold, place a spoonful on the top of each and serve.

Berry Fudding. Butter slices of stale bread and place in bottom of baking dish. Scatter any kind of berries over slices, add another layer of bread and butter. Continue until dish is full. Add 3 beaten eggs to pint of milk, add pinch of salt, and cup of sugar. Pour over bread and berries.

Let stand 1 hour, then bake 1/2 hour. Serve with sweetened cream.

Strawberry Delights. Drain some small cups (about 10) white fresh out of the centre, leaving cuplike rims. Heap these with sliced strawberries, cover with powdered sugar and top with whipped cream.

Strawberry Jamboni. A nice fruit dessert could scarcely be imagined. Pick 1 lb. of strawberries, and put them in a glass dish. Sweeten a quart of new milk, and add a tablespoon of rennet. Stir well then pour over the strawberries and leave to set. Before serving cover with whipped cream. If new milk is not available, heat the ordinary milk very slightly.

Muscatine Cream with Fruit. One quart berries (strawberries or raspberries), 1 cup sugar, 1/4 cup gelatin. (If granulated gelatin, use 2 1/2 teaspoonfuls), 1/2 cup cold water, 1-2 cup boiling water, 2 cups cream. Mash berries with sugar; let stand till sugar is dissolved. Soak the gelatin in cold water, then dissolve in boiling water and strain into the berries. Cool, then beat till slightly thickened; add cream (whipped) and put in mold. When ready to serve loosen sides with a knife and invert carefully. Garnish with whipped cream or serve with this cream and sugar.

Strawberry Pudding. 1 egg, 1 cupful of sugar, 2 tablespoonfuls melted cream, 1/2 cupful of milk, 1/2 cupful of flour. Pour into a greased mold and steam one hour.

Muscatine Cream. Beat 1 cupful cream and add one-half cupful of muscatine, then add the beaten whites of three eggs and beat thoroughly. Have ready one pint of preserved strawberries, crushed in a bowl, and add in the other mixture when ready to serve.

Strawberry Sherbet. 3 cupfuls strawberries, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cupful of water, 1 cupful of sugar, 1/2 cupful of lemon juice, 1-2 cupfuls cream. Mash the berries and sugar, let stand 1 hour. Put through a strainer. Stir in the milk and cream and freeze. Any fruit can be used in a sherbet, except in the same way.

Strawberry Progress. Make a syrup of one cup of water and seven pounds of sugar and cook in an open kettle until a candy thermometer registers 235 degrees when placed in the syrup. Add eight pounds of berries to the syrup. Cook over a slow fire at the boiling point. Stop the cooking when the thermometer registers 215 degrees and pour the shallow pan to cool. When cooling by pouring syrup over berries and when cold, add 1/2 cup of water and 1/2 cup of sugar. Put rubber and wash in hot water. Let the water boil until the fruit breaks, then strain the fruit through a coarse bag. To each pint of juice flow a pound of sugar, which should be heated and added to the juice. Stir it has boiled twenty minutes. Then let the sugar and juice just come to the boiling point and pour into jelly places. If the jelly does not harden do not boil again, but set it in the sun under a glass cover and leave it there until it does set.

Strawberry Jam. First favorite amongst the jams, this dainty preserves no introduction. To every 1 lb. of fresh-picked fruit allow 1-2 lb. of best sifted sugar. Put the fruit and sugar in a large basin, and stand until the sugar has dissolved, about 24 hours. Then boil very gently for three-quarters of an hour. Skim and stir a carefully as not to break the fruit. Put as usual in sterilized glasses.

BUTTERNUT OR WALNUT PICKLE

The first essential is to pick the nuts before the hard shell develops which it does first at the flower or pointed end of the nut. You should be able to run a drawing needle through any part of the nut.

Peel butternut water over the nuts and rub them well with a coarse cloth. Then prick each nut in several places with a darning needle, and cover all with a brine of six tablespoonfuls of salt to every quart of water, and leave for two days; change the brine on the third and sixth days; on the ninth day take out the nuts, and place them on a dish (in the sun if possible) until they turn quite black. Now boil one quart of vinegar with two ounces of whole pepper, one ounce each of allspice and bruised ginger, 12 cloves, stuck in an onion, and 1-4 ounce mustard seed. After boiling ten minutes pour over the nuts, previously put into jars, while hot, without straining off the spices and seal. The pickle may be used in six weeks, but it is better if kept for a much longer time.

FASHION TIPS

Yachts, the thin supple kind, soft as chiffon, is to be smart the coming season.

Just as boys and girls models are featuring dark cloth or crepe dresses that open down the front over a lighter undergarment, and the skirted cloth dress is thought to be one for a strong revival.

Paris reports that the silhouettes of the fall season are descriptive, and while they are long and fitted in character, they are made without some ornate finish from the elbow to cuff, and no matter how wide they may flare, they are always caught with a narrow cuff.

With the changes of fashions one notices that the molded silhouette brings a new collar showing the lower part of the face, and on the 21 depends the ear drops, the long pendants being worn with the close shaves, and the short filigree gold fancies with the wide brims.

WHY MILK SOURS

Milk turns sour because the lacto acid bacteria, a little microbe, is always present in it, unless milk has been boiled, and being food of the acid in the milk, turns this sour into acid. If we could keep milk entirely free from the lacto acid bacteria, it would not become sour; but as soon as it is exposed to the air these microbes drop into it. They are alive, although invisible to the eye. If, when they get into the milk, it is warm enough, they get right down to work on the sugar, to sing it into acid. Milk kept at a low temperature in the refrigerator keeps sweet for some time, but after being exposed to the warm air the microbes affect it and it must be made sweet again.

PREPARED AGAIN

Strawberry Jam, which can be kept without sugar for use later on in the making. This enables the housewife to get along with fewer jelly glasses and less sugar at this time. However, the jelly may be somewhat in the year when the range fire is kept on and the heat pie sent instead of jelly. Moreover, with bottled jelly a great variety of fillings can be made, as jelly and fruit can be put up when the fruit is in the combined later with fruit, this will jelly, or fruits ripening at different seasons can be combined. Juice of strawberries, cherries or pine apples can be kept without sugar and later when apples are plentiful made into combined jam jelly.

It is really surprising how much fruit is allowed to go to waste in the ordinary run. Until one has made an effort to save all the fruit grown, including the windfall poles, no 40c can be had of the large amount wasted.

To put up unsugared fruit for jelly making, proceed exactly as if jelly were to be made at the time. Cook the fruits until they are soft and strain out the juice through a flannel bag. Heat and pour white wine into bottles previously scalded. Fill the bottles full leaving an inch space between juice and cork or seal. Place the filled sealed bottles on their sides in water near the boiling point, and keep them in the bath for about thirty minutes. Make sure that the cork or sealed end is under the hot water. As soon as the bottles are cool cover the cork with a paraffin seal. Thorough sterilization and sealing are absolutely essential to success. Unsugared sterilized pieces of currants, apples, or berries and grapes keep from nine to sixteen

OPTOMETRY

It's value to the public.
By VERNON TUCK, R.O.
Grimsby, Ontario

It is not our intention in this series of articles to go into any technical detail, but to discuss broadly and basically the subject of Optometry in its relation to public well-being.

But it should be stated that an error of vision can be straining the eyes, thus setting up a nerve irritation, cause mischief that appears far removed from the eyes. The explanation is that imperfect vision imposes too great a drain upon the nerve supply of the body, and it is no exaggeration to state that there is almost no end to the symptoms that may be produced.

EDWIN R. NORTON

The death of a Grimsby, on Monday, July 4, 1925, of one of Grimsby's best known citizens in this person, Edwin R. Norton, is a great loss to the community.

Mr. Norton was born in Grimsby over half a century ago and had resided here most of his life. For many years he followed the business of carriage painting. He will be remembered by his friends in the surrounding district as head of the painting department with John H. Scott & Co.

His funeral took place on Monday, July 6, from the home of his daughter Mrs. J. E. Scott, 3 Ridd Avenue, to Queen's cemetery the Rev. T. E. Richards officiating. The pallbearers were his five sons, Edwin, Arthur, Charles, Fred and Roy, and John E. Scott, son-in-law.

CARD OF THANKS
The family of the late Edwin R. Norton wish to thank all their friends for their assistance and expressions of sympathy in their recent bereavement.

CIRCULATE IT

I bought some runs off Taylor Bros. and a 14 lbs when I got home. I kept it for a while. "For here," said he, "I'll pay my bill, did not 'em." He on the run he took the mon, and paid the corner grocer, whose trade was bad, and who was sad, because the wolf grew closer. This made him roll, and for a while this in a of two and aces, thought cheerful things, forgot the links, and paid his clerk's wages. And William, a young old clerk, put up some thankful phrases; his wife was ill—the druggist's bill had worried him like blazes. The druggist cried, "Dug—hide, I thank you for these runs; I'm in the hole and need a roll to ease my weight of troubles." The druggist paid that whimsical maid, his first assistant Annie, and just for luck she blew a back for roller skates for her boy. And thus my seeds brought help to lady and girls beyond the counting; much trouble ceased and joy increased, and kept on mounting, mounting. You see, my friend, if you should spend your coin with local dealers, you're spreading pleasure and content to beat the sun's shining splendors.

A WISE MAGISTRATE

"Magistrate" A. H. M. Graydon of London, is another justice of authority who finds that there is nothing illegal in the so-called "petting parties" even in a motor car parked at the roadside. Petting, however, that the lights are not turned out, because that would be an offense against the motor vehicle regulations. Despite the fact that a lot of people go snooping around for these things, Mr. Graydon says it is a fellow's own business if he wants to put his arm around a girl and kiss her, providing, of course, that the latter is agreeable.

A wise magistrate, a discerning student of human nature. He is quite right, of course. Goodness knows, our liberties are tampered with enough as things stand today, without interfering with the course of true love and the affectionate urge that comes to all normal persons—especially in the moonlight.

The "snoopers" to whom Magistrate Graydon refers, might look back to their own youthful days. People didn't call them "petting parties" then, but that's what they were, just the same. This old world changes very little so far as the fundamentals are concerned.—Border Cities Star.

MIXTS TO HOUSEWIFE

When ice cream is brought home in the paper bucket it can be kept cold until the end of the meal if the receptacle is dropped into a paper sack which has been dipped in cold water. This wet sack is quite impervious to the warm air from penetrating to the ice cream for some time.

We think of a paper sack as small and frail but it is a great aid in keeping anything hot or cold; it acts on the principle of thermos bottles. Two thicknesses of paper sack are better than one and it is better still if the inner one can be wet if you want to keep the object cold. Have a piece in your kitchen to wrap all the paper sacks when you come from the store. Fold and slip them away and when you want one you can find the right size. I slip mine into the space between the kitchen cabinet and the wall. They spread and stick there and there is never an over supply since I discovered how useful they are and make come, at no cost at all.

WRIGLEY'S

"after every meal"
Parents encourage the children to use Wrigley's.
Give them Wrigley's.
It removes food particles from the teeth, strengthens the gums, combats acid mouth.
Refreshing and beneficial!

Banish the Hand Pump

In primitive countries woman is regarded somewhat as a beast of burden. She is subjected to all sorts of drudgery, does practically all the work, and her lot is hard and discouraging. This custom is rightfully regarded as inhuman and uncivilized.

Yet thousands of women in this country today are shackled to the old-fashioned hand pump. In many cases they carry the water considerable distances after pumping it. The amount of time and energy lost is incalculable.

Empire Duro Water Systems

have liberated thousands of women, and men, from the grinding toll of pumping and carrying water. They have brought comfort, cleanliness and health where drudgery, dirt and disease prevailed before.

Duro systems give you all the conveniences of city water service. Running water under pressure in kitchen, bathroom, toilet, garden and barn is at your service.

Compact, powerful, and automatic—Duro system is easily installed in old or new homes and costs less than Duro Systems are made in many sizes and styles. Ask for an estimate of cost.

LATE PLANTING

There are some varieties of garden truck which must have the entire season in which to mature. These will not be ready for use until autumn be the early planted, early maturing garden truck, or those which are fit for use before their maturity are now ready for use and will soon be gone. It is now time to plant more of these for fall and winter use.

Winter cabbage plants should be set out during the first part of July. If you have not grown your own plants, be sure to purchase plants of the winter variety, as the keepers of good quality of earlier strains are not good. Danish Ballhead, Danish Roundhead and late Flat Dutch are some of the most popular of the late varieties.

String beans, peas, beets, and sweet corn will fit for table use before they reach their maturity. A planting of these now will insure a good supply for table use in the fall. Probably there is more Golden Bantam sweet corn seed used for July planting than any other kind. There are several varieties of string beans which may be planted as late as July, as nearly all kinds are fit for use in six or seven weeks from date of planting. Beets, too, will be fit for use in about the same length of time as the string beans, therefore there are many varieties of them which may be sown in July. Many gardeners believe the long and half-long kinds to be the best to sow for fall and winter use. These varieties may be sown even as late as the very last of July or first of August. Of the peas, the "Telephone" is one of the most common of late varieties although there are several other good ones.

Don't forget a patch of turnips. They are good as fertilizers, good for the stock and nice for the table. With very early sorts, almost any variety will do well when sown in July.

In July, too, should be sown the winter radish. This, as its name implies, is the radish which keeps for winter use. There are a number of varieties of these and they may be had in three colors—rose color, white and black.

Swiss chard, kale, kohlrabi, corn salad, endive and parsley are some of the other things we may plant in July in our garden. These are perhaps not as commonly grown as some of the other things in our garden, for you will want them again, once you become acquainted with them. Swiss chard and kale are used as greens while young and tender. Later the midrib of the Swiss chard are cooked like asparagus or made into pickles. Corn salad, endive and parsley are used in salads and in garnishing dishes. Parsley is also often used in soups. Kohlrabi must be used while young and tender. Later the bulbs, while young and tender, are sliced and cooked like turnips and are very appetizing.

POTATO, CELERY, CABBAGE CROPS

Each year during the summer and autumn months, a large number of requests are received by the Division of Horticulture, for information concerning the control of injurious insects and plant diseases affecting field and garden vegetable crops. The damage done to the vegetable crops each year is enormous, but nevertheless, quite unnoticed by many growers. Many of these losses could be reduced to the minimum if proper spraying machinery and materials were on hand. Plants to produce the maximum yield per acre must be protected from injury, because if the foliage is hampered and prevented from functioning properly, there is bound to be a reduction in returns per acre.

The more thoroughly that the spraying is done, the less injury there will be to the plants, and, which this, it is necessary to use spraying machinery and material in a large acreage is to be specially constructed four nozzles machine should be with pumping capacity pressure around one hundred pounds per square inch the area to be sprayed there are several makes of spray machines which are satisfactory, and which will work if properly used. Chief points in spraying is the work is carefully and done.

As soon as the potato about six inches above spraying should be commenced the 4-6-60 Bordeaux mixture to which may be added half pounds of arsenate of lead in the 40 gallons of spray. If I are present, 1/2 of a pint sulphate of copper to the 40 gallons of Bordeaux mixture to protect the plants from an all blight, and, combined with other ingredients, it will be on against the young potato leaf hoppers, the latter are the cause of hopper. Continued spraying throughout the season, at ten days, until the deep injury and disease infect it very often happens in late spray applications at late blight does the most preparing the stock and the best materials prove be used. This applies especially to the plants, which should be fresh and un-sprayed.

To produce celery continuously for years under the intensive method to certainly costing trouble, if preventive measures in the way of spraying are not attended to. Celery blight renders a good crop practically worthless in a short space of time. Spraying with Bordeaux mixture can be considered as a type of good insurance and should therefore not be neglected.

The proper procedure is to start spraying the plants while they are in the cold frame and to continue the applications at intervals of ten days until quite late in the autumn. Should there be only a slight amount of blight present on the plants when lifted for winter storage, this infection will rapidly spread when the plants are packed away in the storage cellar, causing a tremendous loss. At any rate, clean celery will command the highest market price.

To obtain the best results from spraying, three nozzles should be used on each row, so as to thoroughly cover the foliage and the stalks with Bordeaux, one nozzle directed downwards and one nozzle on each side of the row. The addition of 1/2 pint of nicotine sulphate to 40 gallons of Bordeaux will control thrips.

For the control of the green cabbage worms, which riddle the leaves and heads of the plants during the late summer and autumn, there are two remedies which work very well, the use of a poisoned spray or dusting with pyrethrum powder.

Many people object to poison being used on cabbage, but as the heads fill from the inside outwards, and the leaves are tightly clasped, there is no danger in using a poisoned spray. However, if a non-poisonous remedy is desired, one part by weight of fresh pyrethrum powder or Perolan insect powder mixed with four parts of cheap flour, placed in a perfect sealer and left to stand over night will be found to be a good control when dusted on the heads and leaves in the morning while they are still damp with dew.
